Boston, Mass., December 2, 2024 – Croatian Premium Wine Imports, Inc. (CPWI), importer, educator and online retailer for shipping wine in the US, today announced a donation program to assist US-based non-profit organizations.

“Croatian organizations in US are constantly fundraising and on the Giving Tuesday eve, we unveil our fourth annual program to help them achieve their goals,” said Mirena Bagur, co-founder at CPWI. “This is our way of thanking the Croatian-US communities for keeping focused on Croatian culture and exchanges with the homeland. We will select ten organizations across the US to donate Gift Certificates for premium Croatian wines which they can raffle or auction off and use for their organizations. This is easy to coordinate – the organization fills the form and emails us their mission and ways they will use the funds, and we send them Gift Certificates.”

Submission Process: Email the Submission Form by December 20

CPWI will select ten organizations based on criteria involving the mission of the organization as well as the way the funds will be used. To be eligible, organizations must fill in the form (download the form here) and email it to info@CroatianPremiumWine.com by December 20.

“Our focus is on organizations that assist Croatia or are creating awareness of Croatia and its culture in the US,” said Bagur. “Since we carry over 100 boutique, indigenous wine labels from all four wine regions, the recipient of Gift Certificate valued at $50, can select wines from their region – be they sparkling, amber, white or red wines, from the very east in Ilok, via Zagreb and Istria to Dalmatia, all the way south to including Dubrovnik.”

Each selected organization will be contacted directly, and the announcement will be posted on the CPWI social media by December 21th.

Focus on Croatia’s Indigenous Wines

Six years ago, CPWI started by importing and promoting the wines from the Dubrovnik-Neretva county, including Zinfandel/ Tribidrag, Plavac Mali, and Pošip, and now represents over 45 wineries from all wine regions, including various parts of Dalmatia, including vineyards in Konavle, Pelješac, Dingač, Šibenik, and Brač with other autochthonous varieties, such as Malvasija Dubrovačka, Babić, Debit, and Vugava.

The company also works with numerous Istrian wineries, which produce Malvazija and Teran, wineries from Croatian Uplands in both Plešivica and Medjimurje, and Slavonia wineries from Kutjevo to Ilok, including wine varieties like Pušipel (aka Furmint), Graševina, and Sauvignon Blanc.

About Croatian Premium Wine Imports (CPWI)

Based in Boston, Mass., CPWI imports, promotes and retails online boutique Croatian wines in the US. The company expanded its wine portfolio from the Komarna region, Dubrovnik county, to the larger Dalmatia, Istria Slavonia, and Uplands.
